RE: OCM Price Increase Notice Effective September 15th—Plastic Products Only

Dear Valued Customer,

As the summer presses on, OCM has been monitoring various plastic cost indices closely to evaluate the impact on our finished plastic products. The overall cost trend has continued to rise throughout 2022 and material increases are finally to the point that we can no longer absorb them. In keeping with our consistent approach of justifiable, targeted price increases, OCM must implement an average price increase on our plastic products of 7% effective September 15th, 2022. Please note that an “average” increase means that some products will go up by less than 7% and some may increase by more than 7%, resulting in an average of about 7%.

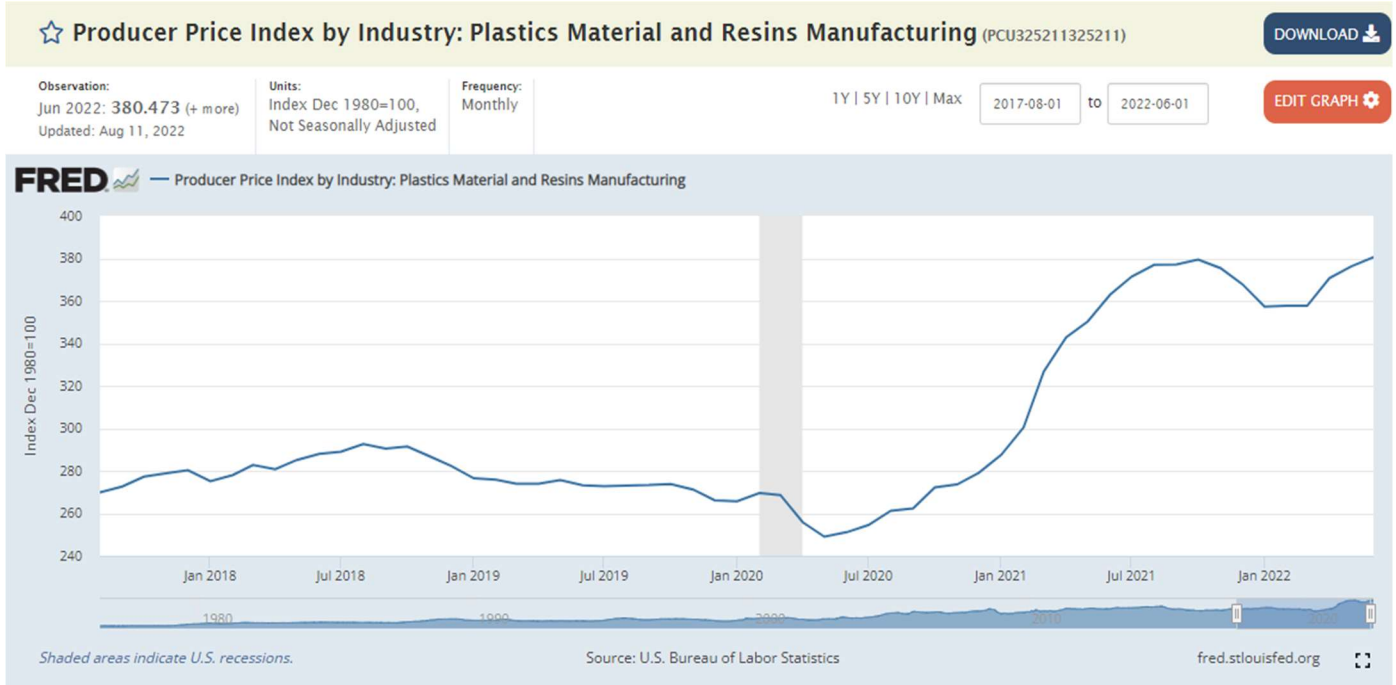

Below please see two of the indices we track to monitor cost trends and justify this increase in plastic pricing:
